

Engage and Support Your Families

Does your practice serve children or adults with disabilities that rely on a parent/family caregiver? Peer support can be a resource that can help these caregivers:

- ❖ Cope with stress or emotional and psychological challenges
- ❖ Reduce their feelings of isolation
- ❖ Manage their child's chronic conditions

Peer support can augment your person and family engagement strategies and help support your TCPI aims. In particular, peer support can:

- ❖ Improve patient/family activation by building connections with others who demonstrate confidence, skills and knowledge in managing chronic conditions
- ❖ Improve health literacy by linking individuals with those who have a lived experience with navigating the health care system
- ❖ Enhance shared decision-making and medication management support
- ❖ Reducing costs (e.g. avoidable hospitalizations) and Improving quality outcomes

Connect

PCPCC SAN is offering access to Parent-to-Parent support for selected PTNs and TCPI practices. In your area, Raising Special Kids, an affiliate of Parent-to-Parent USA will provide reliable, trained peer support services that are readily available and a referral process that is efficient.
